WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

Generally westerly flow across northwest California will help maintain a quiet weather pattern through the weekend. A subtle drop in temperatures will be observed across the interior while plenty of low clouds and fog hug the coast.

Medford Weather:

There is lots of smoke over the area. The thickest smoke is over western Siskiyou County and is emanating from the Gasquet Complex in Del Norte County. There are several other very smoky fire complexes to the south of that one. Smoke plumes are also streaming from the stouts

Reno Weather:

Dry conditions with above normal temperatures will continue through this weekend. Afternoon zephyr breezes are expected today and Friday, with lighter winds on Saturday. Haze and smoke from large wildfires in California and the Pacific Northwest will drift across for the next few days. A cooling trend with breezy conditions is likely later next week.

San Francisco Weather:

A deep marine layer will continue to support coastal clouds spreading inland during the overnight and early morning hours. Otherwise, dry weather conditions will persist along with temperatures near seasonal averages into early next week.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY:

Sacramento Weather:

Dry weather with near normal temperatures can be expected through early next week.

Hanford Weather:

Dry weather can be expected over Central California for the next several days. Temperatures will remain near to slightly above normal as the upper-level ridge slowly strengthens through the weekend into the first part of next week then weakens by midweek as low pressure approaches the Pacific Northwest.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

A persistent weather pattern is expected through this weekend with near normal high temperatures and night through morning low clouds across coast and valleys. High pressure will strengthen early next week driving temperatures up especially across inland locations through at least mid-week.

Extreme Southwestern California including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

High pressure to the east will expand westward bringing a warming trend and gradually shallower marine layer through early next week with high temperatures remaining slightly above average for the rest of next week. Southwest California will be on the western edge of monsoonal moisture with a slight chance of afternoon and early evening thunderstorms on Tuesday and Wednesday for the mountains and deserts.

Southeast California Weather:

The monsoon high will settle across the Four Corners Monday resulting in better rain chances across the lower deserts. Drier conditions will return by midweek along with near to above normal temperatures.
